FOREWORD

This volume has been compiled from material gathered during many years by the editor John Thomas Boddie. A short manuscript history of the family was written by Elijah Boddie in 1840, and this indicated Isle of Wight County, Virginia, as the place from whence the family came to North Carolina from Essex County, England. Additional material pertaining to the early record of the family has been obtained by a search of the County Records of Isle of Wight County. John Thomas Boddie succeeded to the papers of his Uncle Elijah, and his interest and purpose to carry on and complete the work has resulted in this publication.

Thanks are due to John Rumph Boddie of St. Louis, whose financial assistance made this publication possible. Especial mention should also be made of the kindness and courtesy of A. S. Johnson, County Court Clerk of Isle of Wight County, who rendered valuable assistance to the compiler in his search through the county records. We also wish to acknowledge the material assistance and very kind interest of Mrs. John R. Price, Mrs. John C. Anderson, Miss Elizabeth Benagh, Mrs. Anna Boddie Bunn, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Winston, and many others of the family.

This family taken as a whole has held together fairly well and has maintained associations and traditions. This is written not with the idea of eulogizing any of the family but for the simple purpose of preserving and recording the past data for information of future generations. Reference is made to authentic sources and reliable authorities. Nothing is left to tradition.

THE BODDIE FAMILY IN VIRGINIA

The first of the Boddie family in America, or the founder of the American family of that name, was William Boddie who settled in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, 1661.

However, before telling of him it would seem best to treat of others of the name who appear as immigrants.

In those days proper names were spelled by sound, and persons frequently spelled their names in many different ways. The familiar illustration of the different ways Shakespeare spelled his name will be recalled. William Boddie of Isle of Wight signed his name "Boddie," but where others referred to him in the county records, they generally spelled his name "Body," and sometimes "Bodye" and "Bodie."

Robert Boddy, aged 19, sailed in the ship "Safety," Master John Graunt, from Gravesend, England, 10 August 1635.¹ Among the passengers on this same vessel was Bartholomew Hoskins, aged 34, who later in 1645, received a grant of land in Lower Norfolk County, Virginia, for the transportation of Robert Body and several other persons.² Bartholomew Hoskins represented Lower Norfolk County in the House of Burgesses 1649-1656. Robert Body was possibly the father of that Edward Body who is mentioned in the will of Edward Ward of Norfolk County 1668, as "Edward Body my godson when he comes of age."³ Edward Body appears later, about 1680, in Chowan County, N. C., but apparently died without issue, as no further record of him or any of his name is found.

George Sapheir received a grant of land in 1636 on the old Poquoson River in Elizabeth City County for the transportation of six persons among whom was one Thomas Body. This is all that is known of Thomas Body.

One, William Body, obtained a freehold of 200 acres called "Bodys Neck" on Kent Island in Maryland in 1649. He is probably the ancestor of the Body family which appears subsequently in the records of the Eastern Shore Counties of Maryland and also in Delaware up to the time of the Revolution.⁵

A Captain John Body, mariner, in 1676 received a grant of 700 acres, called "Bodys Adventure," in Baltimore County, on the south side of Patapsco River and the north side of Curtis Creek.⁶ A one-half moiety in this land was presented as a deed of gift in 1690 by John Body of the Parish of Stepney and County of Middlesex, England, son and sole heir of Captain John Body, mariner, to his mother Camilla Body. Camilla Body, of the same Parish and County, sold this land to one John Gardiner, in 1699.⁷

John Body afterwards came to Baltimore County, Maryland, and resided at St. Pauls. He is probably the ancestor of that Body family, which appears in the Maryland Historical Magazine (see Indexes of Magazines).

The early settlers of Isle of Wight County and Lower Virginia were mainly from Bristol, but Essex County names were also frequent. Robert Nuttall, aged 18, possibly a connection of the Boddie and Mildmay family (see MILD MAY), sailed from Gravesend in the ship "Primrose" 27 July 1635 and was deeded land in New Norfolk County⁸ by Thomas Hampton in 1637, a time and location closely approximating that of Robert Boddy.

These names, together with the fact that Sir Thomas Mildmay and his son Sir Henry Mildmay of Graces in Essex were shareholders and officers of the London Company of Virginia, a company organized for the settlement and development of Virginia, and the further fact that William Boddie was granted a patent for 6,700 acres of land for the transportation of 134 colonists to Virginia, are mentioned as a possible clue to the connection of William Boddie with the Mildmay and Boddy family heretofore mentioned.

Sir Henry Mildmay is mentioned in Hotten's Emigrants as giving licenses to persons to go beyond the seas, and he was also one of the

About 1636 that portion of Elizabeth City lying on the south side of the James River was formed into New Norfolk County. About 1637 New Norfolk was divided into Upper Norfolk and Lower Norfolk Counties. Upper Norfolk later became Nansemond County and in 1691 Lower Norfolk was divided into Princess Anne and Norfolk County.

commissioners appointed to attend to the affairs of the Virginia Colony⁹ and to dissolve the London Company in 1624, at which time Virginia became a Royal Province. His father, Sir Thomas Mildmay, was interested in the London Company, and was sued by the London Company of Virginia, in 1612.¹⁰

For the information of the younger members of our family and in order to more fully show the difficulties of those times, something should be said of the early history of Virginia and Isle of Wight. We know of no better way than to quote from an admirable history of the Isle of Wight County, by E. M. Morrison, in which the author, in referring to the beginning of this colony and county, says:

"In the early spring of 1608, Captain John Smith, driven by the necessity of obtaining food for the famishing colonists at Jamestown crossed the river (James) and obtained from a tribe of Indians called Worrosquoyackes, fourteen bushels of corn. This transaction was the dawn of the history of Isle of Wight County, as well, almost, as that of America. Again, in December of this same year, Captain Smith, while on his way to visit Powhatan, who was then on the York River, spent his first night with this same tribe of Indians. And in the spring of 1611, after that terrible winter, in which five hundred of the colonists died of starvation and disease, that sad-hearted remnant of sixty emaciated, half-famished men who had determined to abandon the colony, also spent their first night with this same tribe.

"The first English settlement in Isle of Wight County was made by Captain Christopher Lawne and Sir Richard Worsley, knight baronet and their associates, one of whom was Nathaniel Basse.¹¹

"On April 27, 1619, they arrived at Jamestown, with one hundred settlers, in a ship commanded by Captain Evans. They immediately settled near the mouth of a creek on the south side of the James River, still known as Lawne's Creek (sometimes improperly written Lyon's Creek), which in 1642 was made the dividing line between Isle of Wight and Surry.

"Captain Lawne and Ensign Washer represented the settlement known as Lawne's Plantations in the first House of Burgesses, which met at Jamestown on the 30th day of July, 1619."

⁹ Neils Carolorum.

¹⁰ Introduction to the Records of the Va. Co. of London, Page 123.

¹¹ From Isle of Wight, England.

The first settlements in America seem to have been unhealthy, and this one proved to be no exception, for within about a year, Captain Lawne died, and also four-fifths of those he brought with him. Consequently the London Company on 30 November 1620, ordered that: "In regard of the late mortality of the persons transported heretofore by the late Captain Lawne, his associates be granted till midsummer, 1625, to make up the number of persons they were disposed to bring." It also declared that the plantation was to be henceforth called Isle of Wight Plantation.

Edward Bennett, a wealthy merchant of London, on 21 November 1621 was granted a patent for a plantation, upon the condition of settling two hundred emigrants. Associated with him in that patent were his brother, Robert Bennett, and his nephew, Richard Bennett. In February 1622, the "Sea Flower" arrived with one hundred and twenty settlers, under command of Captain Ralph Hamor, one of the Council. Their place of settlement was called Worrosquoyacke, or sometimes "Edward Bennett's Plantation." Later came Phillip Bennett. They were Puritans.

Opecanough, who became chief after the death of his brother Powhatan, succeeded in combining all the Eastern Virginia tribes in an effort to exterminate the whites. An attempt to kill the whites was made at mid-day on Good Friday, 22 March 1622. There were twelve hundred and forty inhabitants in the State of Virginia, and of these three hundred and forty-seven were killed in a few hours by the Indians in the eighty settlements on the north and south sides of the James River, of which number fifty-three were residents of Isle of Wight County.

Disease also nearly exterminated the infant settlement. The census of 1624-25 shows but thirty-one persons alive at Worrosquoyacke and Basse's Choice.

Among those who died were Mr. Robert Bennett, the brother of Edward Bennett, the rich London merchant, and the first minister, Mr. William Bennett, one of the same family, who left an infant son named William.

From about 1630 the colony entered upon more prosperous times, and from then on came a continuous stream of emigrants.

1. WILLIAM BODDIE the first of our family in America was born in England probably about 1635, and died in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, 1717.

The first record we find of him in America is obtained from the Commonwealth Land Office at Richmond, Virginia, where the land grant records show that on 20 October 1661, he was granted a patent of 550 acres of land in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, for the transportation of eleven persons, to the Colony of Virginia. To encourage colonization it was customary to grant to persons transporting emigrants to the Colony, fifty acres for each emigrant so transported.

He received a grant of 3,350 acres lying at the head of Cypress Creek and Western branch, 12 July 1665, for the transportation of 56 persons, which patent of land included the former 550 acres. On 26 April 1684, he received a grant of another tract of 3,350 acres for the transportation of 67 persons.

William Boddie was instrumental in bringing altogether 134 persons to the New World, which number, considering the fact that the average vessel carried less than 75 persons,¹² was quite an addition to any settlement in those days, and was equal to about two ship loads of people.

He was married three times. He married first probably in England, Anna——, who died about 1683. She appears as joint signer of his deeds up to that time. He married second, Elizabeth ——, who signed his deeds from 1689 to 1697. His third wife was Mary Edwards, widow of Robert Edwards.

The date of birth of William Boddie can possibly be determined by the following: The 9th day of the 6th month of 1678, he gives eight head of female cattle to the children of his daughter, Mary Brown, to be equally divided among them, which equal division would indicate four children, as later on 20 May 1682 he mentions five children of his daughter Mary Brown.

Women married very young in those days. At a minimum Mary Brown could not have been less than 25 years of age in 1678. William Boddie's arrival in Virginia about 1661, indicates she was born in England, and that he came over with his wife Anna and daughter Mary. Take 25 years from 1678, this would make the year 1653 as the possible date of birth of Mary Boddie, daughter of William, and would indicate his minimum date of birth as between the years 1630 and 1635. From this it would appear a certainty that he was at least 85 years of age when he died in 1717, at which time he had been 55 years in Virginia.

William Boddie bought several parcels of land from individuals, owning in all, together with his land grants, about 8,000 acres. His transactions in the record books of Isle of Wight, previous to 1700, do not appear to be exceeded by those of any other individual, and the last parcel of his land was not sold until 1771, by his grandchildren then living in North Carolina. In most transactions he is referred to by others as "Mr." William Boddie, which designation was a distinction in those days. Wherever he signed his name, he spelled it "Boddie."

The land in the neighborhood of Cypress Creek where it runs into Pagan River is admirably situated for a beautiful home even today, and presents a splendid view looking out over the James River Valley. It is about 20 miles from Jamestown and is only a short distance by steamer from Newport News, Old Point Comfort, and Norfolk.

William Boddie appears to have been a Quaker. This can be judged by the fact that in all his deeds of gift, which do not appear to be worded in a legal manner and were possibly written by himself, he numbers the month as the Quakers did, from the first month to the twelfth month of the year. His transactions concerning sales of land, which were probably drawn by legal gentlemen, did not follow the Quaker manner, but the established order.

He was somewhat religiously inclined as he made many gifts of cattle to children (generally children of his tenants), and the wording of his gifts was usually as follows: "It hath pleased God to shew me and to give me understanding by His good spirit in my heart that it is His good will and pleasure that I shall give unto, etc."

It is said that members of the Society of Friends or Quakers when they speak at meetings are moved by an inward spirit. The mention of a "good spirit in my heart" would indicate that he was a member of that society. He further followed the Quaker custom of not owning slaves, having only one household servant, as allowed by the Quakers.

The Minute Book of Lower Virginia meetings 1673-1756 of the Friends shows that at a Friends' meeting held 6th month, 22nd day 1678, William and Anna Boddie signed the wedding certificate of John Morrey and Elizabeth Ganat.

In the inventory of the estate of his only son John, an Anabaptist¹³ bible was found, which would indicate that John was a Baptist. This indication is further borne out by the fact that William Boddie, the son of John, Nathaniel Boddie the grandson of John, and several succeeding generations of the family were Baptists.

William Boddie made his will 17 December 1712. It was probated 25 February 1717.

Mary Boddie, his third wife, did not die until 1732. Her will was dated 17 Jan. 1727 and probated 24 April 1732. Among her children she mentions daughter, Mary Bragg. We find on Page 57, Book 1 (1688-1704) the following order of Court: "Upon the petition of James Bragg he hath order of which estate is in the hand of Owen Griffin belonging to Mary, wife of said Bragg and daughter of Robert Edwards, deceased. Ye said Griffin ordered to deliver same forthwith."

In Deed Book 2, Page 217, is a record of the appraisement of the estate of Robert Edwards by Mary Edwards, widow, 2 May 1681. From the foregoing we conclude, that Mary Boddie was formerly the widow of Robert Edwards.

Children of William Boddie by first wife, Anna:

I. MARY, m. John Brown.

2. III. JOHN, m. Elizabeth Thomas.

2. JOHN² BODDIE (*William*¹) was born in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, about 1685 and died there March 1720, at a comparatively early age. His wife was Elizabeth Thomas who survived him and afterwards married Col. John Dawson. (See DAWSON.)

The first record we find of him is in the year 1713 when he and his father William witnessed the will of Ambrose Hardy.¹⁴

¹³ This means baptised again, from the custom among Baptists to christen when infants and to immerse when joining the church as adults.

¹⁴ Book 2, Page 556.

He and his wife Elizabeth deeded 225 acres on Cypress Swamp 20 Sept. 1719 to Alexander Matthews, Jr. Deed was witnessed by William Bridger and Joseph Chapman.¹⁵

John Boddie's will was dated 10 March 1719-20 and was admitted to probate 25 April 1720.

In his will John Boddie provided for the education of his children, then under age: "that they shall have schooling for to learn to read, write and cipher, and ye same for to be paid out of ye rents of my lands." And he divides his land equally among his two children giving his eldest son William his home place.

In the inventory of his estate was an old Bible, an Anabaptist Bible, and a number of books.

His children were:

THE BODDIE FAMILY IN NORTH CAROLINA

3. WILLIAM³ BODDIE (John,² *William*¹) was born in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, about 1710, and died in Northampton County, N. C., about 1772. He married Mary Bennett, daughter of William Bennett, of Nansemond County, Va., and Northampton County, N. C. (See BENNETT.)

The first mention we find of him is evidenced by the following, taken from the Isle of Wight County records.

William Boddie moved to Bertie Precinct, Albermarle County, N. C. (later Northampton County), and bought land there in 1734. There were but three counties in North Carolina at this time, and the territorial divisions of these counties were called precincts. The designation of these precincts was changed to that of "county" in 1738.¹

This move of William Boddie and his brother John was the first migration of our family in America. It represented a move of less than 100 miles in a southwesterly direction. Their land in Virginia which was patented by their grandfather in 1661, had now been tilled for 75 years. Further, tobacco was money in those days and a better quality of tobacco could be grown in North Carolina, than in Isle of Wight, and this fact exists even today. The population of North Carolina was then, about ten thousand. A strong tide of migration was in progress towards this province, as shown by the fact that the population by 1750 had increased to 45,000.²

William Boddie while residing in Bertie Precinct, deeded land originally patented by his grandfather William Boddie on Cypress Swamp, as evidenced by the following record:

William Bennett, John Boddie, and William Boddie were jurors in Edgecombe and Bertie Counties in 1739.³ Northampton County, that portion of Bertie County where William Boddie resided, was cut off from Bertie in 1741. The land originally bought by William Boddie was near the Roanoke River.

William Boddie and his wife Mary were witnesses to the will of Jonas Brown, in Northampton, August 1743,⁴ and to deed of John Dawson to Wm. Cannady and wife Judith, 7 April 1744. He was also a witness to a deed by Thomas Kearney, to his father-in-law William Bennett, in Edgecombe Co., 17 May 1742.

William Boddie was an officer in the Colonial Militia for twenty years. He was a lieutenant in the Northampton Foot in the Spanish Alarm of 1748,⁵ and also in the Indian war of 1754 and

Dear Sir:—

In reply to yours of the 13th I wish to advise that in Volume 22, page 273 of the North Carolina Colonial and State Records, in "A List of Northampton Ridgment," the name of William Boddie appears as a lieutenant. There is no date on this list, although it is evidently of 1748, as it occurs among other lists of that year.

In the same volume on page 309, the name of William Boddie appears on the "Militia Returns 1754-1755. Also 1758 and 1767 . . . Northampton Foot." The name is in the list of officers but the rank is not stated.

Hoping this is the information you desire, I am

Elijah Boddie in his sketch of the family, written 5 March 1840, says: "William Boddie was born in Virginia. He was married but once and left a widower with five children, four sons and one daughter, several years before his death. He was about six feet high, straight and well built, though thin, sallow complexioned, deep blue eyes and light hair. His wife died of measles. He was worth about 20 negroes, gave his children 3 negroes each and 3 pounds Proclamation money."

4. JOHN³ BOLDIE (John,² *William*¹), second son of John Boddie and his wife Elizabeth of Isle of Wight County, Virginia, moved to Bertie Precinct (that part afterwards named Northampton County), North Carolina, about the same time as his brother William, in 1734. Sometime later he made a deed to land in Isle of Wight County as follows:

This Indenture made this 21st day of January in the year one thousand seven hundred and thirty seven and in the eleventh year of his Majesty's reign between John Boddie of North Carolina, planter, and Richard Thomas of the Isle of Wight County, Virginia, on the other hand witnesseth for and in consideration of the sum of Twenty pounds current money of Virginia to him in hand paid by Richard Thomas receipt whereof is hereby Acknowledged. I, the said John Boddie do grant etc. unto the said Richard Thomas that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the branch of Newport, County of Isle of Wight, Virginia, situated in that land commonly known as Boddies land, being his part bequeathed to him by his father John Boddie by will bearing date

Thomas Woodley's line running from there etc. to William Ponsonby's line and long his line to main Western Branch Swamp etc.

Elizabeth Dawson wife of John Dawson of North Carolina 22nd day of April, 1739 conveys her dower rights in the above.

He also deeded 400 acres of land in Isle of Wight to Thomas Woodley⁷ in 1737. Deed shows him to be a resident then of Bertie Precinct, Albermarle County, N. C. His mother Elizabeth Dawson also joined in the deed.

He married Elizabeth Hilliard, daughter of John Hilliard and wife Elizabeth Pottle. After John Hilliard's decease his wife married Christopher Jeffrys. (See HILLIARD.) One daughter, Elizabeth Boddie, is mentioned in the Will of Elizabeth Jeffrys.

John Boddie was a soldier in the N. C. Colonial Militia for Granville County in 1771.⁸ On 8 May 1771, he deeded 300 acres of land on Cypress Creek in Isle of Wight County to one Richard Markie. This deed shows him to be a resident of Granville County, and recites the fact by way of proof of title, that the land was patented by his grandfather William Boddie, who devised same to his father John Boddie, who devised same to him.⁹

Nothing further is known of him. Among our branch of the family, his family is said to have moved to South Carolina, and the tradition of the South Carolina Boddies is, that they came from Northampton County, N. C. (See South Carolina Branch.)

5. NATHANIEL BODDIE⁴ (William,³ John,² *William*¹) more generally known as Nathan, was born in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, 22 February 1732, and died at "Rosehill," Nash County, N. C., 7 December 1797. As described by Elijah Boddie, "he was first son of Lieutenant William Boddie and Mary Bennett; was born in Virginia the year and day of General Washington; moved to Edgecombe County, since called Nash, and settled on Peach Tree Creek. Married Chloe Crudup, daughter of Mourning and John Crudup. (See CRUDUP.) He was 6 feet high, thin and straight and at one portion of his life weighed 175 pounds, but was in delicate health for several years before his death."

His grandfather Captain William Bennett bought land lying on both sides of Peach Tree Creek in Edgecombe County, now within the boundaries of "Rosehill," from Thomas Kearney 19 May 1742. Nathan Boddie moved to this place a short time previous to 1758, as his grandfather Captain William Bennett, of the County of Northampton, (see BENNETT) in his will dated 17 July 1758 gives "my grandson Nathan Boddie my plantation whereon he now lives in Edgecombe Co." Nathan Boddie began an accumulation of land at about the age of 25, which he kept up until near his death. "Rosehill" at that time contained 9,400 acres, and at present time consists of 2,900 acres.

William Bennett, as set forth in a deed on 4 March 1763 "in the third year of the reign of our sovereign Lord George the third," sold Nathan Boddie 250 acres of land in Edgecombe County, for 40 pounds. The deed is witnessed by Willis Boddie, brother of Nathan. This is only one of many deeds to Nathan Boddie of land in several counties in North Carolina. One deed from the Crown to Nathan Boddie is set forth in full for its historical interest, inasmuch as it shows the derivation of the title of the Lords Proprietors to Carolina.

Nathan Boddie represented Edgecombe County in the Provincial Congress of North Carolina which met at Halifax, 4 April 1776, and declared for Independence.¹⁰ He also represented Edgecombe County in the first General Assembly of North Carolina in 1777 as a member of the House of Commons.¹¹ Nash County was formed from Edgecombe County in 1777 by the General Assembly of which Nathaniel Boddie was a member, and he was instrumental in the naming and formation of the County.¹² He was a Justice of the Peace in 1776¹³ and Commis-

John Smith, b. 1699, d. 1777, was a member of the Assembly 1749, clerk of House of the Assembly 1750, was on the committee of safety and a lieutenant-colonel of militia 1776.

Bennett Boddie was left his father's land in Wake County, situated on the Creek road, twelve miles from Raleigh, near the Neuse River. He died 21 Feb. 1809. His wife died the same year and their children were taken to Nash County and reared by their uncle George.

Cousin Fred Battle (see BATTLE), in a letter written long ago, says:

Dr. Bennett Boddie and a wealthy friend were supposed to have been robbed and murdered at New Orleans in 1832. They both had body servants and came by New Orleans with a view of settling at Memphis, Tenn., and were never heard of after reaching New Orleans. My uncle Bennett's fine library and some jewelry came to my father's care at Memphis. At that early day New Orleans was a pirate den and mails were very slow. It was some time before search was made. My uncle, John Exum, went there, but could never discover any traces. Some years after a negro told myself and cousin Sydney Boddie at Mobile, Ala., that he was the friend's body servant, and that all they knew was that they found themselves in the hands of a negro trader, who sold them to parties a long way apart and that was about all he could tell, so the matter had remained a mystery always. Bennett and his friend had a large amount of gold and were expecting to invest it in Memphis.

BENNETT

The Bennetts were among the first settlers of Isle of Wight and Nansemond Counties. Edward Bennett, a wealthy merchant of London, was granted land in Isle of Wight in 1621 on condition that he would bring over two hundred immigrants. Associated with him were his brother Robert and nephew Richard Bennett. The last named became Governor of Virginia in 1652. His only grandson of the name, Richard Bennett, died in Maryland without male heirs.

Governor Richard Bennett and his nephew Phillip Bennett lived in Nansemond County on Bennett's Creek. Phillip Bennett represented Upper Norfolk County (later Nansemond) in the Virginia House of Burgesses 1644-45. The Bennetts were Puritans. William Bennett, the first minister, died in 1622 leaving an infant son named William. The destruction of the Nansemond County records prevents us from obtaining any further information about this family.

The Arms of the Bennetts of Nansemond were "Gules a bezant between three demi-lions rampant silver." Crest, "Out of a mural coronet, gold, a lion's head gules, on the neck a bezant."¹

1. William¹ Bennett, possibly a member of this same family, was born about 1690 in Nansemond County, Virginia. He was the executor of the will of John Cotton in Bertie Precinct, 1728.² He is shown in the Rent Roll of 1729 in Bertie as the owner of 675 acres of land.³ He bought land from John Pope in Edgecombe County, 5 Aug. 1729, and deeded this same land to Thomas West of Edgecombe 24 May 1735, deed signed by wife, Grace.⁴ The Earl of Granville, one of the Lord Proprietors, deeded William Bennett 200 acres on Peach Tree in Oct.

² Grimes' Abstract of Wills, p. 84. Mr. Hathaway (p. 479, N. C. Genealogical Registers, Vol. I) says this John Cotton was son-in-law of Councillor Frederick Jones, John Cotton having married his daughter, Martha. William Godwin, Will (p. 264, W. M. Quarterly, Vol. VII) names daughter Martha Cotton. Arthur Cotton, son of John & Martha Cotton, had a son named Godwin Cotton (Moore's History of N. C., p. 199, Vol. I) from which name a conclusion could be drawn that he was a descendant of the Godwins. The Bennetts, Cottons, Godwins, Bridgers (not Bridger) in Northampton County were kin, how we know not now.

1753, and 81 acres on same creek in Nov. 1753.⁵ The deeds were to "William Bennett, Gentleman of Northampton County." William Bennett bought considerable land on Peach Tree Creek in Edgecombe County. His first transaction there was 19 May 1742, when he bought land on both sides of Peach Tree Creek from Thomas Kearney. This land is now within the boundaries of "Rosehill."

William Bennett was a captain of the Roanoke Company of 101 men in the Northampton Regiment of Colonial Militia in 1748.⁶ He died in 1765 leaving a large number of grandchildren and great grandchildren. In his will, dated 17 July 1758, in Northampton County, probated 1765, he leaves land to his grandsons, Nathan, William, and Willis Boddie.

Dom. 1777, on the Wateree River near Camden in South Carolina and was buried on the 9 day of the said month Febry. on his Plantation on the aforesaid River, he the only child of the above said William and Mary. Note, Titles to the aforesaid Plantation not being made to him in his Life Time-after his Death made to James Cary who was his partner therein and his-Step Father.

He married Mourning Dixon, born, 10 Nov. 1722, died, 1781, daughter of Penelope and Thomas Dixon of Isle of Wight County, Virginia. (See DIXON.) John Crudup bought 250 acres of land in Northampton County, N. C., from Samuel Williams of Edgecombe County, N. C., 13 March 1745.¹ John and Mourning Crudup witnessed the Will of Samuel Williams, 18 Nov. 1748.² Mourning Crudup was executrix of John Crudup's estate as per the inventory of his personal property, exhibited in Aug. 1753.³

- II. MICAJAH THOMAS JR., b. 3 Jan. 1757; m. Ann Hawkins, 7 Jan. 1778. Wheeler in his history of North Carolina Page 430 has the following to say of Micajah Thomas. "As an additional evidence of Col. Benjamin Hawkin's (U. S. Senator) disinterestedness, Micajah Thomas, Jr., who had married his sister Ann, and received by her a handsome patrimony, and who (Ann) had died long before, leaving no child, and was a man of very large fortune, sent especially for Col. Hawkins, when upon his death bed, to visit him. He told him on his arrival he had sent for him to write his will and give him a large portion of his estate. Mr. Thomas was surrounded by many respectable friends at the time. Col. Hawkins told him he would write no such will; that he valued his friendly feelings thus expressed, but that he was sufficiently provided for, and as Mr. Thomas had blood relations he advised him to give his estate to them. When Mr. Thomas found he could not get him to accept of the offered legacy he entreated him to accept of five hundred guineas, which he also positively refused, and wrote his will giving his property to his relatives."

Micajah Thomas Jr. represented Nash County in the General Assembly from 1784 to 1787. He died 26 Sept. 1788. His wife died 12 March 1781.

After the death of her second husband, Micajah Thomas Sr., Mourning Thomas married James Smith. She made her will as Mourning Smith., 12 May 1778. Will was probated July 1781.

Josiah Crudup appears to have settled on Little River, in Wake County about 1784. The first mention found of him in the records of that County, is the purchase of land from William Wilder Jr. There are three deeds: 6 Sept. 1784, 400 acres; 6 Sept. 1784, 100 acres; 18 Sept. 1784, 125 acres.⁴ Josiah Crudup died the latter part of the year 1818 or in 1819. ⁴ These records are in the office of the Register of Deeds, Book G, pp. 161-165.

Jeremiah Battle was administrator, and in the distribution of the proceeds of sale the following names appear: Chloe Lee, Bullard Foster, Will Fowler, Mary Perry, and George Crudup. According to the Federal Census of 1790, Josiah Crudup then had two sons, five daughters, and 23 slaves.

DAWSON

JOHN¹ DAWSON, probably son of Martha and Henry Dawson (Darsen) of Isle of Wight County, Virginia, was born in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, before 1700, and died in Northampton County, N. C., February 1762. He married first Mrs. Elizabeth Boddie,¹ (née Thomas), widow of John Boddie (see BODDIE) who died in Isle of Wight County, March 1720. John Dawson married the second time, Charity Alston, daughter of John Alston of Chowan County, N. C.

John Dawson was one of the most distinguished men of Colonial North Carolina. He was a member of the Colonial Assembly from

"It is not certainly known when John Dawson came to N. C. But we find in April 1698 at Perquimans Precinct he proved his transportation to the Colony and in April Court 1707 makes an assignment deed to Frances Cambridge, with consent of his wife Mary; and Dec. 11, 1735 Barnaby Thomas in his will refers to him as his brother-in-law. From these it seems evident that he married Mary, sister of Barnaby and Philip Thomas."

Now this assignment deed appears on page 92, Vol. I, N. C. Historical and Genealogical Register, as follows:

"John Dawson, and Edward Williams, to Frances Cambridge. Done with consent of my wife Mary: assignment deed, April Court 1707. Test. Thomas Garrett, James Beasley."

Nearly opposite this on page 93 is the following deed:

"Edward Williams, and wife Mary, to George White. Tract of land on Indian Town Creek, opposite plantation of James Harlo, October 7, 1707. Test. Thomas Sonden, Daniel Halsey."

The conclusion that could be drawn from this is that "Mary" was the wife of Edward Williams and not of John Dawson.

Furthermore, the John Dawson who proved his transportation in April 1698 must have been near 21 years of age at that time. The John Dawson we are concerned with, married and had three children born 1756, 1758 and 1760, at which time if he was the same John Dawson who proved his transportation in 1698, he would then be 80 years or more of age.

Now our John Dawson, 28 May 1733, joined with his wife Elizabeth (Isle of Wight Deed Book 4, p. 256) in conveying her dower interest in William³ Boddie's land on Cypress Swamp in Isle of Wight County; and later, 23 Sept. 1738 (Isle of Wight Deed Book 5, p. 274) they made another assignment of dower interest in his land and this assignment shows them to then be residents of Bertie Precinct, N. C. (See BODDIE). The previous deed did not show such residence.

Mr. Groves, however, was right in his conclusion that the John Dawson who is mentioned as brother-in-law of Barnabee Thomas was "our" John Dawson.

Barnabee Thomas' will was proven before Gov. Gabriel Johnston by John Dawson, 11 Dec. 1735, and at the same day and time, our John Dawson, 11 Dec. 1735, took the oath of executor to the will of James Moore of Bertie Precinct. (See original wills on file in the office of Secretary of State.)

These John Dawsons were therefore the same, their handwriting is the same.

An abstract of the wills is shown in Grimes' Abstracts, pp. 251 and 374. John Dawson, however, is not shown in the body of the abstract of Barnabee Thomas' will, but he does so appear in the original.

Bertie, in 1734² to 1740.³ He appears later, in the Assembly from Northampton, and his name is found on many pages of the records of the Assembly. He was Colonel of the "Northampton Redgment" in 1748. He was nominated a member of "His Majesty's Council for the Province of North Carolina" in 1751,⁵ appointed in the same year⁶ by "His Most Excellent Majesty," and commissioned a member of the Council, 13 May 1752.⁷ As "Colonel" John Dawson, he was appointed an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, of the Province of North Carolina in 1751.⁸

He was last in the Council, 2 April 1761.⁹

Resolutions on his death were entered by the Council, 30 April 1762.¹⁰ "The King, Most Excellent Majesty in Council at the Court of St. James, August 31, 1763, Present," appointed a successor to John Dawson, in His Council for the Province of North Carolina.¹¹

Historians have filched from John Dawson his excellent record, and bestowed it on another John Dawson,¹² the one who married Penelope Johnson, daughter of Gov. Gabriel Johnson, who did not die until 1770, and whose wife Penelope, administered on his estate, in Bertie County in that year.¹³

The John Dawson of this chapter, witnessed the wills of both Elijah⁴ Boddie (see BODDIE), and William¹ Bennett (see BENNETT). He proved the will of Elijah⁴ Boddie in Court, November 1761. In William Bennett's will, probated February 1765, it is shown that John Dawson, one of the subscribing witnesses, was dead. John Dawson's will shows that it was probated February 1762. He is without a doubt the same John Dawson, whose death was reported in Council, April 1762.

MALCOLM McNEILL

No. 2

THE McNEILL FAMILY IN AMERICA

1. HENRY¹ McNEILL, the first of this family in America, was born in Argyleshire, Scotland, 29 March 1755, came to America in 1771 at 16 years of age, lived in Va. and in Persons County, N. C.; in 1814 moved to Ky.; and died near Hopkinsville, Christian County, Ky., 3 Nov. 1820. He married at Petersburg, Va. Dorothy Pryor, born in Virginia, 23 March 1755, died in Christian County, Ky., 17 March 1824, daughter of John Pryor, of Dinwiddie County, Virginia.

Henry McNeill was the son of Captain Angus McNeill and wife, Catherine Cameron of Argyleshire on the Island of Colonsay, Scotland, one of the Hebrides. His father, Angus McNeill, was captain in the twenty-fourth Regiment of the Kingdom of Great Britain and was a brother of Donald McNeill of Colonsay, tenth Chieftain or Laird of the McNeills of Colonsay. (See McNEILL Chart.)

Henry McNeill embarked via Greenock Scotland for America, in 1771, when 16 years of age, and came to Petersburg, Va., where some of his relatives were merchants. A letter, now in possession of Mr. John Thomas Boddie, editor, was written him by his uncles in Colonsay apparently on the eve of his departure, which letter is as follows:

Colonsay, 29 Feb. 1771

Dear Henry—

We hand you our letters and also one from Mr. McLean advising us that you have been sent to Mr. Dobson and Krulon to qualify you for a merchant clerk. We have of this date approved of this by our letter to Mr. McLean and have understood that he has two berths of this kind in view for you. We recommend to you diligence in your business, and frugality in your expenses, and particularly that you save your clothes which are better than you have owned so far, and if you wear them out you will find it difficult and changable to get such again, and above all that you keep good fellows company and that you fear God and lay it down as a certain that virtue is the only solid foundation of your present and future happiness, consider that your own behaviour is all you have to depend on and that according to that you'll be regarded and trusted. Write us frequently and fully. We are, dear Henry

Your aff. uncles,
Donald McNeill.
Alex McNeill.

Soon after his marriage, Henry McNeill moved to Person County N. C., where he acquired a considerable tract of land.

Alexander McNeill, a brother, died in Kingston, Jamaica, and left his property to his brother Henry, in North Carolina. Henry McNeill sent his oldest son, Alexander, to Jamaica in order to acquire the estate, but is said to have been successfully "done" out of the entire fortune by some wily gentlemen of Jamaica. In order to prove title, Henry McNeill made an affidavit, copy of which is now in possession of Mr. John Thomas Boddie, editor, that he was "Son of Captain Angus McNeill, twenty-fourth regiment, and wife, Catherine Cameron. Captain Angus McNeill, commonly called 'Collonsay,' brother to Donald McNeill of Collonsay and uncle to Colonel Archibald McNeill, the present Laird of Collonsay."

Henry also received some letters from Scotland from an Aunt Peggy McNeill, who married Kenneth MacCullum. He resided in Person County, N. C., until 1817, when he drove in a buggy (said to be one of the first owned by anyone in North Carolina) to Christian County, Ky., and bought land five miles from Hopkinsville, on Princeton pike, where he resided until his death in 1820. He is buried in the old family graveyard on his estate.

His first wife was Mary Branch of Virginia, who died leaving no children. Mr. McNeill married her sister, Anna Branch 29 July 1817. After her death he married, 12 Oct. 1820, Martha Rivers, daughter of Elizabeth (Edmunds) and Thomas Rivers (see RIVERS). Martha Rivers was born 19 Feb. 1800, died 5 Aug. 1827, and is buried in the Rivers graveyard in Kennedy, Christian County, Kentucky.

Malcolm McNeill moved to Christian County, Kentucky, in 1817, about the same time as his father. He took the oath of citizenship in Kentucky 28 Feb. 1817. He began an accumulation of property at an early age. His first investments were near his home in Kentucky, but he later bought many thousands of acres in Mississippi and purchased property within the city of Natchez, which enhanced greatly in value.

MARTHA (RIVERS) MCNEILL
Wife of Malcolm McNeill

His first investments in Chicago were made in 1842, and he had to reach Chicago by private conveyance or horseback at great discomfiture, which make his foresight and determination to invest in Chicago at that early date all the more remarkable.

Mr. McNeill was very successful in his investments and accumulated a large fortune. In politics he was a Whig and opposed secession, but after war was declared, sympathized with the south and became a democrat.

PERRY

In writing of the beginning of this family in North Carolina, we have to depend upon the tradition that there were seven Perry brothers who came from Virginia to North Carolina some time before the Revolution. The names of these brothers were:

1.
 - I. JEREMIAH.
 - II. JOHN.
 - III. FRANCIS.
 - IV. JOSHUA.
 - V. NATHANIEL.
 - VI. WILLIAM.
2. VII. BURWELL.

This tradition is apparently verified by the fact that the names of the first six of these brothers are found on the muster roll of Capt. Osborne Jeffrie's company in 1754.¹ Burwell Perry is said to have been the youngest of these brothers and as his name does not appear on the rolls he was probably too young to serve.

1. JOHN¹ PERRY was born probably in Virginia and died in Louisburg, Franklin County, N. C., in 1796. His will was probated that year and names the following children:

2. BURWELL PERRY was born probably in Virginia about 1735 and died in Louisburg, N. C., about 1803. He married Elizabeth Massey who died in 1828. The Perry homestead, where he lived, is situated five miles from Louisburg, N. C. This place was patented by Jeremiah Perry, Burwell's brother, who willed it to his son

John Rucker, 6 Feb. 1730 deeded to his sister, Mary Rucker, and her husband, William Offall, 100 acres in Spottsylvania County for love and affection.² This clearly proves that John Rucker was the son of Peter Rucker.

John Rucker bought and sold several tracts of land in Spottsylvania County. His first transaction was the purchase of 100 acres 22 May 1725 from James Taylor. Deed was to "John Rucker of King & Queen County."

In 1727 John Rucker patented 1,977 acres in Spottsylvania County. He together with John Lightfoot established St. Marks

This is said to be the old church near Ruckersville in the County of Greene. John Rucker was a vestryman and appears to have been an influential member of this church.

John Rucker was also a Captain in the Colonial Militia for Orange County in 1740.³ His will was dated Orange County 11 June 1742 and was probated 28 July 1742.

He was a planter and an attorney at law and was at one time High Sheriff of Amherst County. He and his brother Ambrose were justices in Amherst⁴ and were also trustees of the Warminister Academy.⁵ Benjamin Rucker was a vestryman of Ruckers or St. Matthews Church in Lexington Parish in 1779.⁶ He was also a soldier in the Revolution.⁷ His will was dated Amherst County, Va., 20 June 1808 and probated in that county 22 Feb. 1810. He arrived at Annapolis, 6 March 1729-30 in the ship "Hume," Capt. Daniel Russell, owned by William Black of London. He married Lydia Richards, born 1727, died 19 Feb. 1809.

William Winchester founded the town of Westminster in Carroll County, named after his birthplace in England. He was a soldier in Captain Thomas Norris' Company in the French-Indian War in 1757.¹

He enlisted in the Third Maryland Regiment, part of General Washington's Army in 1776. He was promoted for bravery on the field and was commissioned a lieutenant 27 May 1778.³ At the battle of Long Island, August 1776, while his company was assisting in covering Washington's retreat, he was wounded, taken prisoner, and endured a year of suffering in British prison ships off New York. He was then exchanged and rejoined his regiment in the South where it had been transferred to Gen'l Greene's command. He was at the battles of Guilford Court House, Hobkirk's Mill, and Eutaw Springs. He was commissioned a Captain on 9 Feb. 1782, and was at the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown. After the war he moved to Sumner County, Tenn., arriving in 1785, and shortly thereafter, in 1802, erected a large stone residence, "Cragfont," which still stands in good condition.

He was appointed a member of the North Carolina Convention of 1788, held at Hillsboro. In 1794 he was appointed by President Washington a member of the Legislative Council of the Territory South of the Ohio, which was composed of five members, among whom were Gen. John Sevier and Gen. James Winchester was elected to the first State Senate in 1796 and was chosen Speaker of the Senate.

He was commissioned a Brigadier-General 8 April 1812, and was appointed to the command of the Army of the Northwest. He was defeated and captured by the greatly superior forces of General Proctor at the Battle of River Raisin. Upon his exchange he was given the command of the American Army at Mobile and was in charge there at the time of the British attack upon New Orleans.

After the war, General Winchester resigned from the army, 31 March 1815, and returned to "Cragfont."

He, together with Gen'l Andrew Jackson and Judge Overton, founded the city of Memphis. He was appointed by President Monroe a Commissioner to treat with the Chickasaw Indians relative to the boundary line between their nation and Tennessee. His most important trust was in connection with Harvard College, in that he was selected, with Dr. John Cooper as an associate, to replace the old college building with a new one, and to receive and disburse the funds for that purpose. This was in 1672 and lasted for 12 years, as the final accounting was not made until 1684.
